Promoters of "Coolidge REED PREPARES Embarrassed by New Analysis of Finances.

1927 EXPENSES MORE THAN 1926

Facts of Appropriations Are Cited in Formal Statement From Democratic Offices.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, July 23 .- The demo cratic national committee is making the increased appropriations of the ast session of congress the vehicle of an attack on Coolidge economy.

The issuance of a formal statemen on this subject from national com mittee headquarters here today indicates that the figures are to be used generally by democrats in the con gressional campaigns throughout the country this summer.

The statement is based on a sun mary of appropriations prepared by the republican chairmen of the senate and house appropriations committees

"Paeans to Coolidge economy by political promoters to the contrary notwithstanding, the stubborn, discordant fact is that appropriations for 1927 are $470,886,681 greater than they were for 1926; or if certain deductions be made because of postal service revenues, the increase is $273,603,-305," the democratic statement said. President Explains.

President Coolidge recently explained that these increases are due to the normal expansion of the government, and in part to the expenses of the soldier bonus act which congress passed over the presidential veto.

"Had the congress appropriated all the president's budget bureau estimated, the ascent would have been still higher by $6,802,000," the democratic committee said.

"The increase for 1927 over 1926 is greater than the total appropriations I. Smith, of Dwight, and Senator Wilby the congress for all purposes 30 years ago. Nobody expects appropriations now to be what they were then, but it is startling that the entire cost of the federal government then was less than the mere increase of appropriations for 1927 over 1926. "Remarks of Senator Francis E. Warren, chairman of the senate appropriations committee, and Representative Martin B. Madden, chairman of the house appropriations co mittee, published in The Congressional Record of July 12, analyzing federal finances, have embarrassed promoters of the Coolidge economy cult.

Big Jump Admitted. "Senator Warren and Representa- ator, and Samuel Insull, head of elective Madden admit the big jump, very likely thinking it better to come right JARECKI GIVEN out with it, for the longer the wait EXTENSIVE POWERS. the more embarrassing it would be.

"The senator would account for much of the increase by citing approprintions for public buildings, bridges, air service, veterans' bureau, pensions, roads, enforcement of prohibition and military post construction, but he does not mention facts on the other side, such as a reduction of $47,000,-000 in interest payments for 1927 as stimated by the secretary of the treasury because of payments on the public refused to talk before the grand jury. does not mention facts on the other

"Despite an immense increase of appropriations for 1927, the adminison estimates a surplus of $185,-000,000 for that fiscal year, which goes to show that the democrats were fought for a greater reduction in taxes than was granted and when, despite administration opposition, they managed, by relieving smallstaxpayers, to Jessen the annual burden by over 360,000,000 more than the treasury department would concede to be within the bounds of safety."

Senator "Not Interested In Slight Discrepencies." 'Gross Fraud" Might Have a Hearing.

Chicago, July 23 .- (P)-Congresonal investigation of expenditures in the Illinois primary "will follow where nature and common counts lead," said Senator James A. Reed, democrat, of Missouri, here today. As chairman of the senatorial committee of inquiry, he does not wish to indulge in prognostications, the senator said.

"The committee will meet here Monday and begin its work," he said. "We will try as far as possible to carry out the instructions of the resolu tion under which we are authorized to

"We have not prejudiced anybody's case. All the committee wants to do is try to be fair and impartial, and, as far as time and circumstances permit, he thorough."

No time limit has been set for the investigation, and Senator Reed would not hazard a guess as to its probable length.

In asking a recount of the votes cast in Cook county (Chicago) for Frank Mem B. McKinley, of Champaign, in which Mr. Smith won the republican nomination for senator, Mr. Reed pointed out that "of course we are not trying to conduct an election contest."

"We learned a recount was going on and merely asked that the committee be furnished certain facts," declared the senator.

"We would not be interested in slight discrepancies, but if gross fraud Among witnesses for whom subpoe naes have been issued are McKinley and Smith, and their campaign managers; George Brennan, the demo cratic nominee for United States sen-

Thursday 400 villagers of South Iyomura, on the island of Shikoku, stormed the village assembly over a minor school question, seriously injuring the village head man and a number of councillors.

A force of 50 police were brushed aside while reinforcements of 80 were unable to handle the mob. Forty, more or less, were seriously bijured, many sustaining sabre wounds.

The police suppression of news of the provincial riots is increasing the nervousness of the public and is creating the impression that something serious is taking place.

New York, July 23.—Papers filed in the supreme court today on a motion of Mrs. Tins Hamberger, society matron of San Francisco, to set aside a summons alleged to have been served on her while stopping at the Hotel Pennsylvania, in an action brought by her former husband charging her with conspiracy to ruin his business, valued at $100,000, revealed she deserted Philip Gastman and her daughter, Sydell Gastman, 20 years ago, to marry Henry Hamberger, her first cousin.

Gastman, at the time of his marriage in New York city in 1899, was engaged in the ostrich feather business. On June 22, 1900, Sydell was born. She is now employed as a secretary and living at 64 Riverside drive. Gastman, in an affidavit opposing the application to set aside the summons, says his former wife ascertained that Hamberger was her cousin through relatives in Baltimore and when she returned from that city told him about her "bachelor" cousin, Henry.

Hamberger, according to Gastman, was a constant visitor and considered a member of the household of the Gastman family. On May 5, 1906, the

FINANCIAL CONFERENCE EXPECTED IN FRANCE.

Copyright, 1926, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

London, July 23.—With the arrival in Europe today of Andrew Mellon, secretary of the United States treasury, and J. P. Morgan, of the New York banking house, London and Paris financial circles expect an immediate Anglo-American financial conference to stabilize Europe's finances and straighten out the tangled condition of European debt negotiations with America. This is shown clearly in Raymond Poincare's statement, after he formed the new French cabinet today that he hoped to confer with Mr. Mellon as soon as possible.

While Mr. Morgan refused to talk on landing at Southampton and sped toward London in an automobile. British financial circles attach great importance to his visit. They recall in particular the statement made by his partner, E. C. Grenfell, of the London hanking house of Morgan, Grenfell and company, in the house of

The success of M. Poincare, former president, and premier of France, in selecting a "national union" cabinet behind which, it seems reasonably certain the whole country will unite, is another important aspect. M. Poincare, a rigid economist, will make a gigantic effort to straighten out his country's finances, and it is likely that he will try in every way possible to gain Anglo-American cooperation.

From Paris came reports that Mr.

Bank of England, re to meet in France, presumably in Paris, within

Furthermore, British financiers connected with the five largest banks are laying plans to rescue the French currency as soon as the Paris politicians declare their readiness to surrender control of the treasury to financial experts. With M. Poincare at the helm it appears more likely that the politicians will drop party feuds. When Joseph Caillaux came to London to sign the debt agreement a dinner given in his honor was attended by the principal British bankers, who clearly stated their conviction that bed rock solidarity of the French economic position could be achieved only when political stability is assured and when the French are willing to cooperate. This was why M. Caillaux insisted strongly that foreign credits were a necessity for saving the franc.

Before leaving for a month's summer holiday, Mr. Norman told the board of the Bank of England that he expected French affairs to reach a crisis, after which the question of British financial support inevitably would arise.

Paris, July 23.—The acclaim of France is once more with Raymond Poincare.
The statesman who has been scourged for the last two years as the "war man of the Ruhr." has announced a cabinet, and the French nation, greeting six premiers assembled under a national union banner, is enthusiastic in its approval of the leaders it has called back to office. Poincare has triumphed in formation of a ministry of solid strength after months have been wasted by leaders who attempted to form political governments. With 300 votes virtually assured him in the chamber of deputies, he takes office assured of support in any measure he may propose to save France from the surrounding in his opening speech. Briand. Mr. Mellon did not come to England but disembarked from the liner Majestic at Cherbourg. He also refused to comment on his visit beyond insisting that it was made for purely personal research. he said his company now serves 95 per cent of the country from branches within the third postal zone. He said Atlanta rail and express advantages and the geographical location of the city were main inducements which brought the plant here.

Wilkinson, who was scheduled on the program to introduce Mr. Beall. The three speakers declared that the coming of Sears, Roebuck & Co. to Atlanta simply marks another milestone in the progress of this city to a point where it will become one of the greatest distributing centers in the world.

Mr. Wilkinson made a brief talk in presenting the Sears, Roebuck & Co. executive.

Mr. Beall expressed great pleasure over becoming a citizen of Atlanta.

"I am now a citizen here, although I don't own any property yet. I hope I am here to stay and I know Sears, Roebuck & Co. is here to stay," he said.

Mr. Reall thanked the members of the chamber of commerce for the cor-dial greeting bestowed on him.

"I have made more friends whose friendship means something to me in the two weeks I have been in Atthe two weeks I have been in At-lanta than in the 15 years I lived in Chicago." he said. Mr. Beall said the Atlanta store al-

These obstacles come f. ist from radicals who are furious at the inclusion of Herriot in the cabinet; second, from possibility of discord among six former premiers, all having distinct policies, but all finding it necessary to follow the lead of Poincare; third, from the chance that further fall of the franc may weaken the popular support of the cabinet.

Poincare is assured of 300 votes in the chamber as it stands today, and there is likelihood that this strength will reach 350.

Poincare Unpopular.

France and her statesmen know that Poincare is unpopular abroad, and that his order for occupation of the Ruhr is held against him by foreign nations. The favorable reception given him at the outset is interpreted to mean that France is disillusioned now as regards the conciliatory foreign policy adopted by its cabinets of the past two years. It is best to return a give and take foreign policy, according to the apparent philosophy of the new premier, indicating that Poincare inteds to yield nothing for France unless France receives in proportion.

Notification of the American debt

Notification of the American debt agreement is accepted as one of the cardinal points of Poincare's ministry, despite Briand's presence in the cabinet as foreign minister. A recent letter by Poincare outlining his opinion of the Mellon-Berenger agreement backs up this opinion.

"This is a truce of party men" Poincare told the United News following the first unofficial meeting of his cabinet, and just before he presented his ministers to President

"Old Tom" Johnson put a curse on the spot.

"Old Tom." it is remembered by a few of the oldest inhabitants, had all his life been a good patron of the "Two Toms Tavern," which stood near that spot in the days gone by. It came about that, as he grew older, "Old Tom" suffered the storms of financial adversity. He degenerated into a penniless hanger-on at the tavern he had once patronized so freely. And finally, tired of his unprofitable presence, the proprietors threw him out.

An Annual Curse.

"Old Tom," his ancient bones shaking with weakness and rage, stood beneath the shade of the oaks on what was then a country lane and, rasing his claw-like hand to heaven, invoked an annual curse upon the tavern, never to end for "full 100 years."

Ever since, once a year, the martins come and, in their nosy, aimless, futile chittering the neighbors hear again the vain vituperations of "Old Tom" and recall, with a shudder, the curse he called down upon the heads of ungrateful boniface.

"Old Tom's" curse was voiced just before the war between the states. Unless the curse is exorcised sooner it has many years yet to run before its power shall die, when the 100 years are gone.

Galen refers to "opening the pores," but remember that it was fourteen centuries before the discovery of the circulation. People nowadays who speak of the opening or closing of he pores have no excuse for their er ror except ignorance.

The rupture or tear of muscle fibers or even the tearing of a muscle from its attachment to bone or tendon, in some violent movement, is called charleyhorse. Often it is possible to feel a lump at the site of the tear or rupture, or sometimes the lump may be seen under the skin, and such a lump takes several weeks to disappear. A scar remains at the point of injury, and this scar may permanently impair the full elasticity permanently impair the full elasticity of the muscle.

Riders are mostly likely to have charleyhorse at the junction of the adductor muscles of the thigh with their tendons. They call this injury "Ball players" "Ball players "pulling a hamstring." Ball players are more likely to have charleyhorse in the tendon muscle junction of the deltoid or scapular muscles about the shoulder and shoulder blade.

Small tears or ruptures, perhaps of microscopic muscle cells or fibers, account for one form of muscle soreness or lameness following violent effort. The other cause of soreness is the presence of irritating waste matter imperfectly removed through the sweat. This is important to understand because too wasny neonless. derstand, because too many people harbor an erratic notion that such soreness or lameness may be "sweated out" by hot baths of one kind or an-out" by hot baths of one kind or another.

The process of "warming up" for an athletic contest or race is akin to getting second wind. It is correctly so-called, for it actually brings about an increase of the temperature of the muscles involved. This increase in temperature favors muscle metabolism, the oxidation or combustion of blood sugar and the removal of the ash or waste matter, lateit acid and other products of metabolism.

Ruptured tendons occur most frequently in cold weather. When such an accident happens in athleties, the victim is most generally a casual or occasional player and has jumped into the game with cold muscles. He has falled to warm up properly.

It is too much to hope that no one will rejoin that what I here describe in, after all, just the thing I so often declare can't happen, namely, "taking cold." At that, I should as soon give it that name as any other, if this term were not so indiscriminately applied to all sorts of ills.

A warm room, warm weather, or warm clothing, all help the warming up process and fend to prevent soremes and charleylance.

Concerning Steele's charges that Mayor Sims was opposed to Chief of Police Beavers, the mayor raplied that he had made his race for mayor on two occasions on this issue and in one race Beavers was one of his opponents and that the people had indorsed his position on this question in these races. Ferrall, who had been holding of fice under a recess appointment, was nominated and confirmed last December, but a commission never was issued to him. He has brought suit to compel the secretay of the interior to issue the commission.

It was brought out that President Coolidge personally had approved a telegram from Acting Secretary Finney, which O. H. Graves, interior department solicitor, contended was only a notification that his term as a temporary appointee had terminated with the adjournment of congress without issuance of a new commission.

Mayor Sims said he vetoed a measure calling for an increase of pay for Atlanta policemen because a similar increase granted firemen following a referendum election was in the course of litigation. He said it would not be fair to pay the policemen an increased salary and then pay the firemen their old salary in the event they lost their case in court. The mayor said he believed the policemen should be paid the same salary as firemen in the event the firemen win their case in court. the adjournment or congress without issuance of a new commission.

Graves held that the president has a right to change his mind and decline to ma kean appointment even after the senate has "consented" to it. No appointment is complete, he said, until the commission has been signed by the president. After disposing of other minor questions in reference to policemen's sentairies and pensions for city employees, Mayor Sims sums up his record as by the president.

Macon, Ga., July 23.—(P)—Emphatic denial of the charge that she was infatuated with E. W. Wilsom was made by the daughter of G. L. Cobb in a statement today. Deputies investigating the double murder July 10 of Wilson and his fiancee, Miss Hilda Smith, near the Cobb home on Swift creek road, charged that Bars Davis, farm hand employed by Cobb, was in love with the latter's daughter, but that she cared nothing for Davis, being infatuated with Wilson. This was considered to establish a possible motive for Bars Davis to have a nand in the killing.

In a third confession made by Ed Glover, negro, who is under indictment for the slayings, Davis is directly implicated in the crime, according to the negro's statements as repeated by Shariff Lances P. Hicks.

Fight Is Planned S.A. NUNNTU On Men Elected

Mitchell, S D., July 23 .- South Dakota's two senators will vigorously fight the seating of any senators-elecwho win their election through the illegal use of large sums of money. They made this clear in statements made today.

Replying to an inquiry, Senator W. H. Mc.daster said: "In the event of the election of Vare, of Pennsylvania, and Smith, of Illinois, if it is conclusively shown that vast and unwarranted sums were expended for their election I would vote to unseat both senators, regardless of whether the money was spent with or without their knowledge. Lavish expenditures of money in campaigns not only prostitute the spirit of elections, but corrupt the electorate itself and in the end would destroy representative government."

Senator Peter Norbeck pointed out

Senator Peter Norbeck pointed out Senator Peter Norbeck pointed out that the expenditures in a senatorial election were limited by federal statute while primaries were amenable only to state laws. He decried the corruption that has been shown in the Pennsylvania elections and declared that he would oppose the seating of any senator guilty of corrupting the electorate by the use of money.

SECRETARIES SELECT MACON FOR MEETING

Savannah, Ga., July 23.—(**)—At the closing session of the Association of Commercial Secretaries of Georgia this afternoon Macon was selected for the annual convention to be held in the winter. Officers will be elected at that time.

The secretaries held a two days' convention here.

It was purely a business and instructive meeting devoted almost entirely to consideration of new and baffling problems confronting commercial secretaries in the discharge of their duties. Anticipating formation at some time in the future of a state-wide organization with the task of selling Georgia, its resources and possibilities in an agricultural sense to people out of the state, the association appointed a committee to keep in touch with any or all matters of this kind.

INSTALLMENT LXVI.

JOHN FORGIVES CONNINGTON.

Mr. Dingwall thought fit to assert himself. "All this must be most interesting to Mr. Panton and other mems of his family," he broke in, with a little cough of excuse for inerrupting a story which did not bear directly on the crime under inestigation, "but in your present state, Connington, I think you ought to husband your strength. Therefore I must ask if you are now to tell us what happened the night before last." "No need to make a long yarn of that," came the muttered reply. "Get your papers ready and take down what I say. All right? Well, there was no beating about the bush for me. I traveled through from London and fell in with Captain Panton both at Fort Williams and Mallaig. What is more, I saw the young lady whom Alistair Panton had married. I fancy I know a bit about women, but I'll have to go to school again in the next world if that nice looking girl cares two straws school again in the next world if that nice looking girl cares two straws for any one on earth except Captain John. . . . Yes, put that down. It's important, because—don't you see?—it gave me another hold on Allstair. So I went straight to the Castle and sent in my name. The Major came out in a towering rage, but that didn't flurry me at all, and he was becoming a trifle more reasonable when an old gentleman, Lord Oban, I believe, joined us. He had heard enough to make him suspicious, but I didn't mind that—it was really a score for me—so the Major hurried off to the village and we arranged to meet that night. Major hurried off to the village, and we arranged to meet that night. He supplied all necessary directions, as to the boat and the landing stage, I mean, and made such a show of concealing my movements that I'm pretty sure he meant to push me into the lake and keep me there till I crocked. Not being exactly that sort of a fool, I wrote the whole story and put it in a sealed envelope, which I sent to my bank in London, with the request that if my death was reported the inclosed letter was to be sent to Scotland Yard. As I'm going to die now. Mr. Furnaux, my be sent to Scotland Yard. As I'm going to die now, Mr. Furneaux, my written 'confession' will reach you by the next post."

The man chuckled dreadfully when he noted the astonishment on

"Yes, that's o. k.," he said. "What's the good of lying now? I just pushed back at him with a grin. Then he pulled a revolver, but I stopped any excitement by telling him about the letter safe in the mail bag. At that, he swore at me, said he didn't care a rap for any charge I Well, we met as planned, and the Major offered me fifty pounds, which bag. At that, he swore at me, said he didn't care a rap for any charge I could bring against him, and turned on his heel. Now I had been as cool as a cucumber up to that point, but I've been taking a lot of cocaine recently and was missing it more than ever that evening, so I gave way to a cold fury, snatched at the boat hook I had used for making a quiet landing, and reached after him, intending to pull him back by main force, at the same time lifting the automatic out of my pocket. I felt the hook catch, and thought it was in his collar, so I jerked it hard. He fell backward and I knew in a second I had made the biggest mistake of my life. He gurgled something, but he was done for, so I scrambled into the boat, thinking that perhaps no one would associate me with the affair if I could reach Mallaig without attracting attention. I may as well admit, too, that I believed Mr. John here would be the first to come under suspicion. Of course, he might be able to clear himself, but at the moment I didn't care whether he did or not. I was only a few feet away from the boathouse, and hidden by it, when a light flashed on the landing stage, and I heard voices. Then a police whistle was blown, evidently to raise an alarm, and in a minute or two a gun was fired. That broke me up. I lost my nerve and crossed the lake in-stead of going back to the bridge, as I had intended. O, I remember now! A car came along the road at the wrong time for me. While I was still trying hard to recover my wits and decide how to act for the best I set eyes on that d——d dog. He finished me. I went almost out of my mind, I suppose. All through the night I imagined I was being followed by the devil. Even now I can't guess how he got on my track so quickly. Dogs don't swim across wide lakes."

An hour later the procurator fiscal read what he had written, Sheldon's notes supplying the full text. Connington listened in silence to the end. Then he took the pen given him by Betty and added a brief sentence before signing his name. His handwriting was shaky but clear. The few inserted words were much to the point. They ran:
"I am sorry for all the mischief I have caused. "I ask my old com-

"C. S. M., Company Sergeant Major! Dash it all! Why couldn't things have turned out differently for each one of us?" He went back into the room where Betty and the hospital nurses were trying to persuade the dying man to drink some beef tea. He sought for and held a trembling hand.

"Leave us now, John," said Betty hurriedly. "He must be allowed Betty Bridgnorth was, indeed, a kindly soul. Connington was dead before John had passed through the doorway, but the official time was stated as being quarter of an hour later.

So there were two funerals at Inverlochtie, one a stately parade, the other inconspicuous but all the more impressive because of its simplicity. No one talked of going away until Alistair and his unfortunate ally were laid to rest. Then Lord Oban called a meeting in the drawing room one morning after breakfast and explained that, though the heavens fell, the moors must be shot on the twelfth. He had powerful supporters in four women. Indeed, Lady Lansing put forth a strong appeal.

"I have been faced with something like a mutiny in my family," she "I disdain to mention a husband utterly out of control, but I have two small boys who became positively sulky when they heard that their father took part in a most exciting adventure while they were sound asleep. I am not certain that Moira is not worse than her brothers. She has made a friend of Spot, and assures herself every night that he is safe indoors before she goes to bed. What will happen if he wanders out some evening after dark I dare not guess. I believe my young barbarians will lower themselves from a window by knotted sheets. I think, however, that a few weeks of fishing and long tramps to lunch with the guns ever, that a few weeks of fishing and long tramps to lunch with the guns may restore discipline in the ranks."

"More than that," added Betty, "if we all break up now every one will think there has been a frightful shindy among the survivors. If we send hampers of game as usual the gossipers will be silenced."

"And much more than that," put in May Leslie. "I'm rolling in glory in the Edmonton papers every week. What about it, uncle? Deauville doesn't cut any ice in comparison with Inverlochtie, does it? Auntie writes that she would love to come here. And Arthur said this morning writes that she would love to come here. And Arthur said this morning he hoped Lord Oban would invite him for August next year, at any rate."

Frensham reddened to the roots of his hair at this direct testimony, Frensham reddened to the roots of his hair at this direct testimopy, but John rescued him at once. A look from Eileen sufficed.

"That settles it," he cried cheerfully. "I heard from Mr. Mountford this morning, and he says I shall not be wanted in London until October. Government departments refuse to be hurried. Mr. Furneaux gave me a sort of hint, too, that if I wished to square the C. I. D. for ever and a day I might invite Mr. Winter to join us. He's a first rate shot,

It is only to be expected that there would be no immediate talk of weddings. Indeed, it is more than probable that May Leslie took the plunge first, as her father arranged to visit England early in the autumn. en and John had a tacit agreement that a quiet marriage in the local WINKLE cirk during the following January would be just right. LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE-Ambushed Again

A welcome respite from the sweltering days of the midweek, in the of more comfortable weather, gives one an inspiration to enjoy many infinite amusements offered to those who are spending the mer at home.

Unusual entertainment is offered in the matinee presentation of "Pirates of Penzance," at the Atlanta theater Saturday afternoon, with an all-star cast singing the principal roles.

The regular dinner-dances at the Piedmont Driving club and Atlanta Atlanta Atlanta Cub this evening and the tea-dance at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel are two events always enjoyed and looked forward to. Although few members of society outside of the very young social set are energetic enough to brave the heat of a summer's afternoon by dancing the hours away, the older members of society can enjoy iced drinks on the terrace in comfortable surroundings and pass the late afternoon hours in a refreshing fashion. Of course there are no places as cooling and delightful to spend an evening as the club terraces or roof gardens, and the dinner-dances this evening will be especially enhanced by the charm of a full moon.

Funeral To Be Held
For Mrs. Thomason
At Alpharetta Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Jimmie Ann Thomaston, 63, of 632 College avenue. Decatur, who died Thursday morning at a private hospital following an illness of several months, will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Methodist church at Alpharetta.

According to the story told at the Tarkington house today, the Zantu. Tarkington's motorboat, was crippled by fire before he succeeded in extinguishing the flames. He suffered slight burns. A few minutes later the storm which had been sweeping east struck Kennebunk Port and then raced out over the ocean, where it kicked up a formidable sea. The Zantu drifted before the gale, but help was near seemed particularly dangerous. # Browns Pay Big Price for Shulte, Milwaukee Star

Robertson, Jonnard And Lamotte Figure In Deal for Player

Jonnard Pitched For Nashvile in Southern League and Bobby Lamotte Starred With Memphis Chicks in 1924.

St. Louis, July 23.—(AP)—Purchase by the St. Louis Browns of Fred Shulte, star outfielder and leading hitter of the Milwaukee American association baseball club, was announced today. Charles Robertson and Claude Jonnard, pitchers, and Robert Lamotte, infielder, go to Milwaukee in the deal. The amount of cash involved was not made public.

Shulte, who has been batting over .400 and who has been valued at $125,000, will report to the Browns next spring. Robertson and Jonrard are now with Milwaukee and Lanictte will report immediately.

Shulte, regarded by many as the eatest prospect in the minor leagues this season, is the most expensive player ever bought by a St. Louis

The Milwaukee star was sought by virtually every club in the major leagues and it is known that bids were as high as $100,000. The Browns were given first consideration because they sent help to Milwaukee early this season when the team needed added strength in the pennant

Tace.
Shulte is 22 years old and described as an all-around player.
The luck of Otto Borchert, president of the Milwaukee club, in developing young ball players and selling them to the major leagues at a fancy price, was again illustrated at the trade. Borchert has sold the majors more stars who have made good than perhaps any other minor league magnate.

Shulte Cost $1.700.

Shulte Cost $1,700.

As a sample of the net profit to the Milwaukee club in these deals, Borchert obtained Shulte in 1924 from Waterloo of the Mississippi Valley league, for $1,700. Sometimes he takes young players in big deals and later sells them back to the majors at fancy prices. But it has never been recorded that any player deal fell through because Borchert put the price too high.

Back in 1912 he sold the Chicago White Sox a little catcher named Ray

Back in 1912 he sold the Chicago White Sox a little catcher named Ray Schalk, who now sets a new record in major league baseball contests every time he goes behind the plate. Not long after he sold the White Sox Larry Chappelle, a high priced outfielder, who was one of the few Borchert graduates who failed to make good.

Borchert's recent sales include the deal which sent Joe Hauser, lirst haseman to the Athletics, for $10,000 and a young catcher. Next year Borchert sold the catcher, Glenn Myatt, to Cleveland for $30,000. Al Simmons and Walberg were other recent purchases of Connie Mack from the Milwaukee club. Johnny Mostil, the White Sox outfielder, was purchased from Milwaukee two years ago. Last fall Borchert sold the St. Louis Browns his shortstop, Oscar Mellilo, who was the sensation of the association circuit.

JONNARD AND LAMOTTE FORMER DIXIE STARS.

Claude Jonnard and Robert Inmotte, two of the plaryes involved in the above deal, were former stars in the Southern league. Jonnard broke into the Southern as a pitcher right-handed and bats left-handed.

Tampa, Fia., July 23.—(A)—Larry Avera, of Atlanta, champion welter-weight of the south, was awarded the decision over Julian (Jim) Moran, of Spain, in a 10-round bout at Benjamin Field arena tonight.

Avera weighed 141 and Moran 147. The Spanish fighter kept Avera backing away in the early rounds and proved a clever infighter whenever the Atlantan tried to mix matters. Avera proved the stronger and won the fight on his work during the final two rounds, when he had the Spaniard covering up under a rain of blows.

ln the semi-final Young Manuel, lightweight of Tampa, fought a 10-round draw with Soldier Angel Diaz, of Havana. Diaz was several inches shorter in height and reach than his opponent. Manuel succeeded in keeping the Cuban at long range with a right jab, but his aggressive opponent forced the fighting throughout.

AVERA HAS WON 18 STRAIGHT FIGHTS.

Although classed as a welterweight, Avera does most of his fighting weighing around 140 pounds, putting him several pounds below the welterweight limit. He usually concedes his opponent several pounds, giving his foe a him advantage.

The business of breaking golf course records in Atlanta is on the boom a present, for M. D. Baker, well known Atlanta insurance man playing in the rain Thursday afternoon lowered his own previous record from 66 to 65 on two consecutive rounds at the Stockade nine-hole municipal course. Earlier in the week Douglas Linam.

Earlier in the week Douglas Linam, a former caddy, lowered the Piedmont park course by three strokes.

Baker not only shattered the 18-hole course record but lowered the nine-hole record when he shot a 31 for the first nine and completed the second round in 34 for a total of 65.

During the afternoon, despite the heavy downpour, Baker scored four birdies, and went one over par on the difficult third hole and on his second nine he registered two birdies, but scored one over par on two other scored one over par on two other holes thus completing the last nine in 34. Only once during the after-noon did Baker go over four strokes on a hole and that was the 18th which he negotiated in a par five. The card and par follow: Out. par . . . . 443 343 355—34

INCREASE SHOWN IN CONSUMPTION OF MILK, CREAM

Washington, July 23.—Announcing a large increase in consumption of milk and ice cream in the United States, the department of agriculture says it is due entirely to the increase of population, while others blame it on the prohibition of beer, once consumed in large quantities.

In 1925 two billion pounds more of milk were produced than in 1924, 116,505,395,000 as compared with 114.666,201,000.

Of this amount, 4,437,524.000 pounds went into ice cream, which took 3,926,313,000 in 1924.

FIGHT PLANS ARE BLOCKED

Chicago, July 23 .- (A)-Tex Rickord's plans for holding a world's championship fight between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney in Chicago next September came to a sudden and abrupt halt tonight when his attorneys, after examining the contracts held by B. E. Clements, of the Chicago Coliseum club, advised Rickard that Clements had "a fairly good claim" on the champion's services for a match with Harry Wills, the negro Rickard, still professing every hope that he would be able to stage the Dempsey-Tunney contest as planned September 11, immediately plunged into the task of untangling the legal entanglements involving the champion's signature. He declined to reveal, however, just what steps would be taken to clear away the obstacles confronting him. He had a long session tonight with the group of Chi-cagoans who are associated with him in the venture.

While Rickard was in conference with his attorneys, Clements announced that the Dempsey-Wills fight would be held in Chicago between the dates of September 16 and 20 and that the proceeds would go to a Christmas charity fund raised annually by Patrick J. Carr, county treasurer.

Clements Has Claim. Clements, however, failed tyeal where he would raise the 000 he must pay Dempsey on August 5 under the terms of his contract, and $500,000 10 days in advance of the $500,000 10 days in advance of the contest.

"I can't say a thing or do a thing until this contract business is settled." Rickard said. "My attorneys tell me that Clements has a claim on Dempsey's services. Until this is adjusted my plans are at a standstill I would look foolish to go ahead and face lawsuits and injunctions which possibly might not be filed until a couple of days before the fight. That would ruin the advance sale. I am meeting my people tonight to place the situation before them. I feel confident that everything will be all right but it may take some time to iron it out."

Sheldon Clark, millionaire vice president of the Sinclair Oil company, confirmed reports tonight that he would be associated with Rickard in promoting the Dempsey-Tunney contest in Chicago, and that seven other Chicagoans, all of them prominent and wealthy, also would be interested. Clark declared that neither he nor his associates would share in the profits, but consented to aid Rickard in handling the fund for charity. Rickard's plans provide for guaranteeing $100,000 to be evenly divided between the policemen's and firemen's widows and orphans founds. Trustees of these two funds, it is understood, have not as yet accepted Rickard's Sheldon Clark, millionaire vice pres have not as yet accepted Rickard's

Austin, Texas, Star Wins Way to Finals In Net Tournament

Young Lewis White Defeats Harada, First Ranking Japanese Player, in Semi-Finals in Straight Sets - Plays Tilden Today.

Brookline, Mass., July 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—Continuing the sensational tennis that brought him victory over a conqueror of William T. Tilden U, and Japan's national champion, Lewis M. White, Harvard law students from Austin, Texas, fought his way into the finals of the 34th annual Longwood bowl singles tournament today by defeating Takeicha Harada, first ranking Japanese Davis cup star, in straight sets on the Longwood Cricket club grass courts.

dies that may contain very outlists possibilities if it should move up into the cotton belt where rainfall has been excessive.

When the market closed just before midday for its 20-minute intermission to await the government report the undertone was very firm. Upon reopening there was a good deal of selling by trades who were disappointed because the bureau figures were so much above the average of private estimates. A break of about 25 to 34 points from the highest followed, after which new buying appeared and produced a sharp rally.

Throughout the afternoon the market was sustained by a good demand from several quarters, including Wall street, which was a liberal seller yesterday, and from the trade. Temporarily at least, the bearishness of the bureau's figures appeared to be overahadewed by the adverse weather conditions in the southwest which have prevailed in fact, most of the time since the government report data was compiled July 16.

Prior to the publication of the report, prices had advanced 21 to 25 points over yesterday's close on belated short covering. The government made the condition average 70.7 per cent of normal and gave the indicated crop as 15,368,000 bales.

It was known that the indicated crop was somewhat larger than anticipated that was responsible for the temporary decline. A case for debate occurs in the photoplay, "Nell Gwyn," which Paramount is releasing in this country. A scene shows "pretty, witty Nelly," as Mr. Pepys loved to describe her in his famous diary, persuading the king to give the magnificent new palace he is building as a home for war-broken soldiers and sailors. Nell wins over her royal lover and to this day the great Chelsea hospital in London stands a monument to Nell Gwyn's thoughtfulness.

Tudor Theater.

"The Frontier Trail," now showing at the Tudor theater, is a wonderful story of the winning of the west, and of the brave and hardy men who left home and love for the new country in search of wealth, who stalked the trails fighting and struggling. Harry Carey portrays the leading role in the picture, which is a riot of ac. on and thrills, and of glorious romance.

Lakewood Park. A special program of new dance hits has been arranged for tonight's dance at Lakewood Amusement park casino by Maurice de Garland, director, and preparations made to accommodate 300 couples on the mammoth dance floor. The open-air casino, with cool breezes playing through it from the lake, is especially attractive for July dancing. Motion pictures nightly and the cool and exciting rides, open from 1 to 11 o'clock, are other park amusements that keep thousands merry and comfortable regardless of weather.

New York, July 23.—(P)—The stock market experienced a further readjustment of speculative accounts today with the result that there was considerable irregularity in price movements Public participation was on an exceedingly small scale, and what little advantage there was in the day's fluctuations rested largely with profesting the profession of the beart transfer of the control of the beart transfer of the control of the c home near Columbus in 1867. issues to new high levels for the year.

The weekly mercantile reviews laid stress on the unusual midsummer expansion of business, and held out hopes for further recovery in the third quarter. Intense heat in some areas has stimulated sales of hot weather merchandise. Two of the most interesting developments of the day were the approval of the proposed Southwestern railroad merger by the directors of the Kansas City Southern, and an increase in lead prices.

Kansas City Southern, and an increase in lead prices.

The announcement that former Premier Poincare had succeeded in forming a new French coalition cabinet was reflected in the further recovery of the foreign exchanges and the riging trend of French bond prices. French francs, which had collapsed below 2 cents earlier in the week, ruled around 2.35 cents, Belgian francs rallied close to 2.40 cents and demand sterling was slightly higher at $4.85 7-8, despite the large number of cotton bills that make their appearance at this season of the year.

Both the industrial and railroad averages showed practically no change the direction of L. F. Loree, who has engineered the merger.

Final approval of the proposal was voted by the directors of the Karsas City Southern railway today, siter the boards of the other two roads had ratified the plan. It is understood that the three roads will still retain their corporate identities, with Mr. Loree in full control through his position as chairman of the numor companies—the Kansas City Southern and the "Katy."

companies—the Kansas City Southern and the "Katy."

The development of the Loree system began to take shape more than a year ago when the Kansas City Southern acquired working control of the "Katy." Another link was added last fall, when a large stock interest in the cotton belt was purchased from the Rock Island, which had been blocked in its efforts to merge with this road. Additional mileage eventually will find its way into the consolidation if the original plans for annexing several smaller lines are carried out.

In the southwest the new combination will rival the greater Missouri Pacific system, which recently completed one of the largest mergers in this section, and the pending Frisco-Rock Island consolidation. To a lesser extent it will also compete with the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, and the Southern Pacific systems which tap the territory.

L. F. Loree, sponsor for the new merger, also has projected an ambitious consolidation in the east, where he plans to build a fifth trunk line with the Delaware and Hudson as a nucleus. This proposal would involve a the construction of an entire stretch of railroad across Pennsylvania, the probable addition of the Wabash and one of the smaller eastern coal roads such as the Lehigh Valley. Application recently we made to lease the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh as the first step in the plan.

With the outline of the Loree project in the southwest, three major railroad consolidations are now pending.

road consolidations are now pending, the other two being the modified Nickel Plate plan, and the proposed union of the St. Louis, San Francisco and Rock Island railroads.

ON BIG RECEIPTS

Chicago July 23.—(P)—Rapidly en

receipts assuming record proportions turned the wheat market here downward today after an early advance.

Closing quotations on wheat were heavy at 1-4 to 1 1-8c net decline, with corn unchanged to 3-8c higher; oats 1-8@1-4 to 1-2c up, and provisions varying from 1-2c setback to a rise of 10c.

Pilling up of stocks of wheat in the southwest attracted particular notice, Kansas City having alone received 7,500,000 bushels in the last five days. Primary arrivals as a whole have reached an aggregate of nearly 18,00,000 bushels so far this week, one of the largest totals ever known for any similar period. Under such circumstances, cash wheat prices both here and at Kansas City showed a tendency to agg, and on some transactions were 1c a bushel down. Reports of a congestion of wheat at Montreal tended also to weaken values, especially as export demand for all North American wheat continued light.

Dry weather in the Canadian northwest together with unexpected firmness of Liverpool quotations was largely responsible for temporary bulges witnessed in the wheat market. On the other hand, rains fell in parts of Minnesota as well as the Dakotas, and the buying power here waned when traders who had been among the early purchasers tried to unload. Aggressive selling which developed at this stage was given further impetus by assertions that Oklahoma has raised the largest crop in the bistory of the state. Some estimates which were circulated put the Oklahoma yield as high as 89,000,000 bushels.

cline of 267,000 bules in the prospective cotton crop between June 25 and July 16 was shown today in the department of agriculture's forecast of 15,368,000 equivalent 500-pound bales hased on July 16 conditions. This year's crop was 16,103,679 bales. This year's crop wit, favorable conditions, might reach 16,628,000 bales, the department stated, but with unlaw as 13,476,000 bales. Recent weather conditions have been favorable for plant growth in nearly all cotton states, but as a result of a late start, cool nights, and the loss of the early bloom through the wide-spread ravages of the cotton hopper, much less fruit than usual had set up to July 16, the crop reporting board stated. This leaves the crop more exposed than usual to late weeyil damage, which may prove a serious menage, which may prove a serious menage in a number of states should weather conditions he favorable for the propagation of these insects. The uncertainty of the situation has caused a sharp decline in the galles.

Sir Douglas Haig, great British soldier during the world war, not long ago in addressing the Preshyterian general assembly in Scotland, said:

"What we need just now is a world league of Christian men and women to promote ideals of peace and broth-the hald in mind the same thought, which prompted that unknown Christian of the second century after Christ, to write:

"What the soul is to the body, that are Christians in the world. For the soul holds the body together and the soul holds the body together and the soul holds the body together and the soul holds the body together.

This illustrious position has been assigned to them by God, which it were anlawful for them ever to forsake."

The Christ.

John Oxenham has written: in Christ there is no east nor west Him meet south and north, ut one great fellowship of love hroughout the whole wide earth.

"In Him shall true hearts everywhere Their high communion find. His service is the golden cord Close-binding all mankind.

"In Christ now meet both east an

America and the liberty, which we enjoy today, are the direct results of the work of these men of long ago, who went out disregarding and brushing aside national and racial lines, to bring to all mankind the message of the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God through Jesus Christ, our Lord.

Dover, N. J., July 23.—(P)—The present chief of the naval bureau of ordnance told the court of inquiry today that prior to the Lake Denmark disaster they had felt no apprehension over the safety of the ammunition depot, destroyed by fire and explosion July 10, with loss of 21 lives.

Rear Admiral Paul C. Bloch, present head of the bureau, insisted that Lake Denmark was not overstocked. At th, time of the explosion, he said, the ordnance department was considering transfer of 10,000,000 pounds of powder from Fort Miflin, near Philadelphia to the naval depot here.

The early and unexpected termination of the world war, he said, was responsible for the enormous quantity of explosives concentrated here. The bureau faced the problem of finding storage for a large proportion of materials. It was impossible quickly to assort the various explosives and much of them that poured into Lake Denmark were stored in magazines as quickly as erected.

Second Church of Christ, Scientist

Macon, Ga., July 23.—(F)—Dr. William Russell Owen, pastor of the First Baptist church, accompanied members of the police force here today in their daily raids on places suspected of dispensing illicit liquor.

In two places, Dr. Owen stated, there was great activity as the police rushed in and the evidence indicated, he said, that liquor was quickly poured out of original containers. No arrests were made during the raids. Dr. Owen stated that he got a thrill out of the raids.

Refusal To Allow Tribal Dances

Superior, Wis., July 23.—(P)—
Refusal by the government to permit Wisconsin Indians to perform their tribal dances has brought about an acute situation, the Rev. Phillip Gordon, Centuria, Wis., Catholic priest and full-blooded Chippewa, said today.
"Many of the Indians are in fighting mood," Father Gordon said. "An Indian war would have resulted in Wisconsin not so long ago if the Indians had received the same treatmen at the hands of the government as they have recently."

Trouble may result, Father Gordon said, at a meeting of the Indians to be held Sunday. "Intense feeling has been aroused against the Indian agent here who stopped the dances under orders from Washington. The Indians have the sympathy of the people of Hayward and hundreds of tourists who enjoy the ancient dances." Superior, Wis., July 23 .- (A)

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.) Washington, July 23.—Washington, headquarters of the nation's dry forces, chalked up new records during the last year for total arrests made in the district, the number arrested for intoxication and those for violation of the Sheppard local dry law.

Figures released by the superintendent of police today disclose that 93,204 arrests were made by the local officers during the past year, an increase of 17,875 over the preceding 12 months.

Increased activity in prohibition enforcement, a reduction of one-third in forcement, a reduction of one-third in the number of speeding automobiles taken into custody, and an increased number of arrests for intoxication featured the report.

RACE FOR GOVERNOR.

Dallas, Texas, July 23.—OP.—The Texas preprimary campaign closed tonight with the prospect of 650,000 voters going to the polls tomorrow to any whether they, wish Governor Mirimm A. Ferguson retained as the titular head of the democratic party and to settle other contests.

The first woman governor to be elected in Texas has been the object of the most intense "off-year" campaign in the state's history.

The Texas election bureau, an organization set up by Texas newspapers to gather returns, estimated that the democratic vote would be about 650,000, or about 50 per cent of the state's voting strength.

Mrs. Ferguson's two leading opponents, Attorney General Moody and Lynch Davidson, sharply differed with her on this issue. These three campaign for two months. Governor Ferguson delivered seven or eight speeches, most of her campaign being conducted by her husband, former Governor James E. Ferguson.

The other three democratic candidates for the nomination, taking a less prominent part, are Mrs. Edith Wilmans, of Dallas: Mrs. Kate Johnstone, of San Antonio, and the Rev. O. F. Zimmerman, of Naples.

On the republican leaders were not claiming that they would poll a large vote, 30,000 was the highest estimate of the republican headquarters, but they assert a republican primary will be held in 200 of the state's 252 counties.

The struggle between Congressman Hurry M. Warzbach, of Sequin, the

The first train, which will carry Company L, of Calhoun; Company I, of Marietta; Company M, of Elberton; headquarters and headquarters company of the third battalion, of Biberton; three enlisted men of the medical detachment of Atlanta, and the howitzer company of Atlanta, will leave the island at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and will leave Samerow afternoon and wil will leave the island at 4 o clock to-morrow afternoon and will leave Sa-vannah at 6 o'clock. Major Andrew Drake, of Elberton, will be in com-mand of the train and Lieutenant Jack Haley will be train adjutant and quartermaster. Captain W. W. Dan-iel, of the medical corps, will be train argeon.

At 5 o'clock the second train will At 5 o'clock the second train will leave the island, carrying the regimental headquarters and headquarters company, of Atlanta; the service company and medical detachment, of Atlanta; Company K, of Cedartown, and the division headquarters and headquarters company of the 30th division from Griffin.

The train will be under the command of Major S. B. Hawkins and Lieutenant William L. Mattox will be train adjutant and quartermaster with Major Edgar H. Green as train surgeon. ganization is back of Colonel H. H. Haines, of Houston, for governor. Wurzbach is opposed for renomina-tion in his district by Fred E. Knetsch, a Creager partisan.

San Antonio, Texas, July 23.—(A) Mrs. Kate M. Johnston, one of the three women candidates for the demoadjutant and quartersmaster, and Captain Jean G. Gachmann as train surgeon will leave Tybee at 7 o'clock and Savannah at 8:45 o'clock. The cratic nomination for governor of Texas, withdrew from the race to-night and counselled her supporters to vote for Governor Miriam A. Ferguson in tomorrow's primary.

Mrs. Johnston said that she decided to withdraw on account of sickness.

Russian Rests Near Lenin Nowcow, July 23.—(P)—With honors paralleled only by those accorded Nicoli Lenine, the body of Felix E. Dzerzhinsky, chairman of the supreme council of national economy and once head of Russia's much feared secret police, was buried last night in the revolutionary martyrs cemetery, just behind Lenine's wooden mausoleum in red square.

The coffin rested on the catafalque for half an hour while several soviet officials, speaking from the top of Lenine's tomb, extolled the militant preme council of national economy and once head of Russia's much feared secret police, was buried last night in the revolutionary martyrs cemetery, just behind Lenine's wooden mausoleum in red square.

While bands played the revolutionary "dead march" the coffin, with the lid removed, was placed on a catafalque draped with red and black in front of Lenine's tomb. Expected throughout the country by radio.

At the conclusion of the speeches the coffin was removed from the catafalque. At this moment Mme. Dzerzhinsky, widow of the commisar, swooned, but she soon recovered.
